

KIRSTY WHITLOCK

"I use recycled and reclaimed materials as a response to the throwaway culture of consumerism."

"My work explores the potential of communicating a social message through the use of discarded household items, including plastic carrier bags and newspapers, using them as a format for machine embroidery."

